

Report of head of household
1944 Kandel, Kutschurgan, South Russia

Submitted by Pius Waldman

Joseph Lingor and Anton Bosch authored the dorfplan as their early childhood years were spent in the village. They authored a book Entstehung Entwicklung und Auflosung der deutschen Kolonien am Schwarzen Meer. With the book also were the six Kutschurgan village dorfplan reports. The dorfplan showed more such as school, church and streets.

Kandel was a new village in 1808 settled mostly by emigrants from Germany and the Bas-Rhin area today in France. In 1944 the residents had to flee and leave their village due to Russian forces forcing the German Army to retreat after occupying the region for a few years.

The dorfplan states the population was 3,775 with 655 families but only 412 households. Many had more than one family living in a household. Due to limited space the dorfplan sometimes only listed surnames and shortened first names. Also families generally used similar names for their children. This report shows others not listed if no first name is known. Dorfplan is located at http://www.blackseagr.org/maps/kandel_platmap.jpg.
